

Late post today as we've been out and about with no signal, checking off more trails from our bucket list. So very grateful today for the opportunity to be back enjoying the great outdoors.

Sending an early shout out to all the moms. "We have a secret in our culture, and it's not that birth is painful. It's that women are strong." May all of you have a blessed and well-deserved wonderful Mother's Day.

What are you thankful for?

Until next Thursday's post…si Dios quiere.

"If you have not touched the rocky wall of a canyon. If you have not heard a rushing river pound over cobblestones… If you have not seen the tree line recede to the top of a bare crested mountain. If you have not looked into a pair of wild eyes and seen your own reflection. Please, for the good of your soul, travel west."

"Babies are bits of star-dust blown from the hand of God. Lucky the woman who knows the pangs of birth for she has held a star."
–Larry Barretto

"We travel not to escape life, but for life not to escape us."
