

Took a little survey. Today I share with you things my friends and family are thankful for:

Arturo – “For my health, Test came back normal. Also I give thanks for my wife. And for my sister.”
Elena – “My husband’s health. Test came out good! And for my family and friends.” Barbie – “My faith. My parents. My life.”
Mildred – “Thankful for my sense of humor.”
Esther – “Health, children, friends.”
Monica – “God’s grace that is evident every day of my life.”
Nancy – “My mom…who’s my rock and has a way of putting things in perspective every time.”
Ledys – “I am most thankful for my perseverance, which I have because of my blind faith, complete trust and unending love for God, my Savior.
Ali – “I’m thankful for my family.”
Cary – “My husband and boys. They are the light of my life.”
Lauren – “For my parents that give me everything. Without them I wouldn’t have the support system that gets me through school and my involvements.”
Danny – “My parents that love and support me each and every day.”
Ray – “For a healthy family.”
Candie – “Waking up to this view. And church.”
Kevin – “For you guys for accepting me into your family and letting Lauren and I date. I am thankful for that. And for my brother.”
Vicky – “I’m thankful for my brother because I feel like he is always there for me never to judge me…he’s like my guardian angel here on earth.”
Martha – “My girls. And Robert too.”
Kassandra – “My family.”
Sammy – “My family.”
Liana – “Thankful for my new job. It’s great! Also for everyone’s prayers for baby Joseph Anthony. And for my hubby, we will be enjoying 26 years of wedded bliss!” Maria – “My kids, they are my driving force.”

Wally – “My friends and family.”
Gaby – “My family and best friend Lauren.”
Me – For all of you.

Thank you all for responding to my text and sharing your gratitudes. That was nice.

~ Hem your blessings with thankfulness so they don’t unravel.
