

For movies that move me. Whether a sci-fi that makes me wonder, a thriller that kicks in my arrhythmia, a drama that brings me to tears, a laugh-out-loud comedy that makes my sides hurt, a bio that inspires me, or my favorite: a feel-good flick that lifts my soul. I'm thankful for the movies that move me. Here are a few I've seen countless times and still stop me in my tracks every time I'm channel surfing:

Field of Dreams

Signs

Beaches

Jesus of Nazareth

In Her Shoes

Passengers

My Big Fat Greek Wedding

Rocky

Working Girl

Little Miss Sunshine

Jaws

Airplane!

While You Were Sleeping

The Devil Wears Prada

Alien

Under the Tuscan Sun

Shawshank Redemption

12 Angry Men

Schindler's List

Bridesmaids

The Abyss

The Blind Side

Trouble With the Curve

What movies move you?

“Surely you can’t be serious.”

- “I am serious. And don’t call me Shirley.”

(Airplane! (1980))

Share this:

- Click to share on Facebook \(Opens in new window\)
- Click to share on Twitter \(Opens in new window\)
- Click to share on Pinterest \(Opens in new window\)
- Click to print \(Opens in new window\)