

Thankful for the Gift List. I have a Bucket List, yes, and it's great to plan and look forward to checking off stuff from it. But today I am most thankful for what's on my Gift List — the blessings: being a mother, a wife, a sister, a daughter, a friend, a co-worker; being loved and loving; the faith received, the things achieved, the friends made, the experiences had and the lessons learned — my Gift List. Do you have one?

“Can God be counted on? Count blessings and find out how many of His bridges have already held.”
