

In the spirit of Halloween and dressing up, here's a throwback to September 5, 1969, Habana, Cuba - me in my flamenco get-up - designed and created by my Mom, who made gazillion costumes throughout the years to dress up my sister, my brother, and me, and every kid in our family (whether we liked them or not!).

For my Mom's artistic and loving creations and the great memories they provide to this day, I am so very thankful.

What are you thankful for?

“Sweater, n. Garment worn by child when its mother is feeling chilly.” – A. Bierce

Share this:

- Click to share on Facebook \(Opens in new window\) Facebook
- Click to share on X \(Opens in new window\) X
- Click to share on Pinterest \(Opens in new window\) Pinterest
- Click to print \(Opens in new window\) Print