

For those perfect imperfections. Because “the flaw is the thing we love.” We are all a work-in-progress, aren’t we? As annoying as they may be, I try to appreciate those imperfections in those I love, and in me. It’s teaching me tolerance. Besides, I’d rather deal with than without.

What are you thankful for today?

“It had flaws, but what does that matter when it comes to matters of the heart? We love what we love. Reason does not enter into it. In many ways, unwise love is the truest love. Anyone can love a thing because. That’s as easy as putting a penny in your pocket. But to love something despite. To know the flaws and love them too. That is rare and pure and perfect.” – P. Rothfuss

“Herein lies the beauty of the flaw: that a shortcoming is a spiritual sign that says “Look! There is a perfect opportunity right here to grow and become better!”
-C. JoyBell C.

“Some of the most beautiful things worth having in your life come wrapped in a crown of thorns.” – S. Alder

The flaw is the thing we love.
Gail Caldwell
LIKESUCCESS.com

Share this:

- Share on Facebook (Opens in new window) Facebook
- Share on X (Opens in new window) X
- Share on Pinterest (Opens in new window) Pinterest
- Print (Opens in new window) Print