For napkins. While I stealthily swiped everyone's napkin around me (common occurrence, as those who often dine with me know), our dinner table conversation turned to a challenge that I express my thankfulness for napkins on the next Thankful Thursdays post. I do go through a lot of servilletas; could I secretly be writing a book on them? Maybe. Nah, I just really hate sticky fingers. But they are good for scribbling and doodling on — gotta love the occasional surprise notes left on them. So yes, among tons of other things, today, I am thankful for napkins (and gosh, for those poor trees). There. And you thought I wouldn't do it. Friends, life can be overwhelming. Let's be grateful for the little things too.

What [trivial thing] are you thankful for today?

"The fondest memories are made when gathered around the table."

"Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own."

-Matthew 6:34
