

For the Perez household engine.

There are days when I keep crossing things off my to-do list like I'm on a mission or something. Those days are super amazing. It feels great to get things done. Of course, there are days when I just want to relax and, well, maybe do nothing. If you're like me, you probably don't mind that kind of day at all, and welcome it. If you're like my daughter, who's always on the go, that kind of day may give you anxiety. And if you're like my husband, who's the epitome of activity, that kind of day just doesn't exist.

Not me, I like a lazy day, but I do realize the upside of crossing things off the list. That's why sometimes I'll mix both. I'll accomplish ONE thing on my to-do list and call it a day. ☐ A perfectly productive lazy day, don't you agree?

But, honestly, productive people rock. So I dedicate today's post to the most energetic and productive person I know - my husband. Thank you, Babe, for all that you do for us. You're the Perez household engine.

What are you thankful for today?

Until next Thursday's post...si Dios quiere.

"The best things in life make you sweaty."

-Edgar Allan Poe

"It is not enough to be busy, so are the ants. The question is: What are we busy about?"

-H.D. Thoreau

"The key is not to prioritize what's on your schedule, but to schedule your priorities."

-S. Covey

"In the same way, let your light shine before others, so that they may see your good works"

and give glory to your Father who is in heaven.”

-Matthew 5:16

Share this:

- Share on Facebook \(Opens in new window\) Facebook
- Share on X \(Opens in new window\) X
- Share on Pinterest \(Opens in new window\) Pinterest
- Print \(Opens in new window\) Print