

This week, it was back to the office for me after 18 months of working from home. How did it feel? In a way, like going back to school – – dreading the morning routine, but happy to see my friends.

I will not enumerate here all the things I like about working from home. They are many. But I have to say that I am glad to be getting back in the swing of things.

Today I want to give a shout out to my employer, White & Case, for keeping us on and having our backs during these challenging times. I feel blessed to still have a job and happy to have a truly nice workplace to return to. And for that, I am so grateful.

What are you thankful for today?

Until next Thursday's post...si Dios quiere.

And my view is not bad either. ☐

"The pessimist sees difficulty in every opportunity. The optimist sees opportunity in every
