

Taking a much needed break this week and, in the process of disconnecting (somewhat), I am reminded that “as our faith is strengthened we will find that there is no longer the need to have a sense of control, that things will flow as they will, and that we will flow with them, to our great delight and benefit.”

That’s a great reminder. Now, to strengthen our faith to the extent we can truly let go and let God, well, that is the ultimate spiritual goal. How do we do that? Turn to the One who gave us faith in the first place, and ask for more and more. So even when the clouds roll in, we can rest assured that He will work His magic.

For He who strengthens our faith (and makes the cloudiest of sunsets look spectacular), I am thankful.

What are you thankful for today?

Until next Thursday’s post...si Dios quiere.

“For we walk by faith, not by sight.”

-2 Corinthians 5:7

“And still, after all this time,
The sun never says to the earth,
‘You owe me.’

Look what happens with
A love like that,
It lights the Who Sky.”
