

I've never felt my "life" clock ticking faster than I do now. And with every tick-tock, a heightened sense of urgency to live. Wow, guys, like no time to waste, really.

Living with a sense of urgency (not to be confused with "living in a rush") induces motivation and helps us reach our goals. This is essential when we are young. But, it is especially important later when life becomes more about "hurry up and do it 'cause you're running out of time."

Today, my heightened sense of urgency is bringing even more clarity to what matters most. It is a constant reminder of how precious time is and how we should not waste it. Not waste it in anger, regrets, worries, or grudges and, instead, invest it in making the best out of each and every day.

Inject some urgency into your living. No matter how young or old you are. Remember, our mañanas are not promised.

For every tick and tock, I am grateful.

What are you thankful for today?

Until next Thursday's post...si Dios quiere.

"I have been impressed with the urgency of doing. Knowing is not enough; we must apply. Being willing is not enough; we must do."

-L. da Vinci

Today's Rx:

*Let everything you do be done
in love.*

1 Corinthians 16:14

RxfortheSoul

TheSoulSentinel.com

Share this:

- Click to share on Facebook \(Opens in new window\) Facebook
- Click to share on X \(Opens in new window\) X
- Click to share on Pinterest \(Opens in new window\) Pinterest
- Click to print \(Opens in new window\) Print