

As I was saying….

Wow, it feels like I'm caught in a time loop. Just two weeks ago, I was writing about the looming threat of a hurricane. I can practically repeat my entire post from September 26, except move the setting a few miles south.

As we navigate this familiar cycle once more, our thoughts are with those impacted by the storm. I have to say, it's truly heartening to witness how people rally together to help one another. Compassion prevails.

Let's keep in prayer those affected by these hurricanes. May they find the strength and support they need in the days ahead.

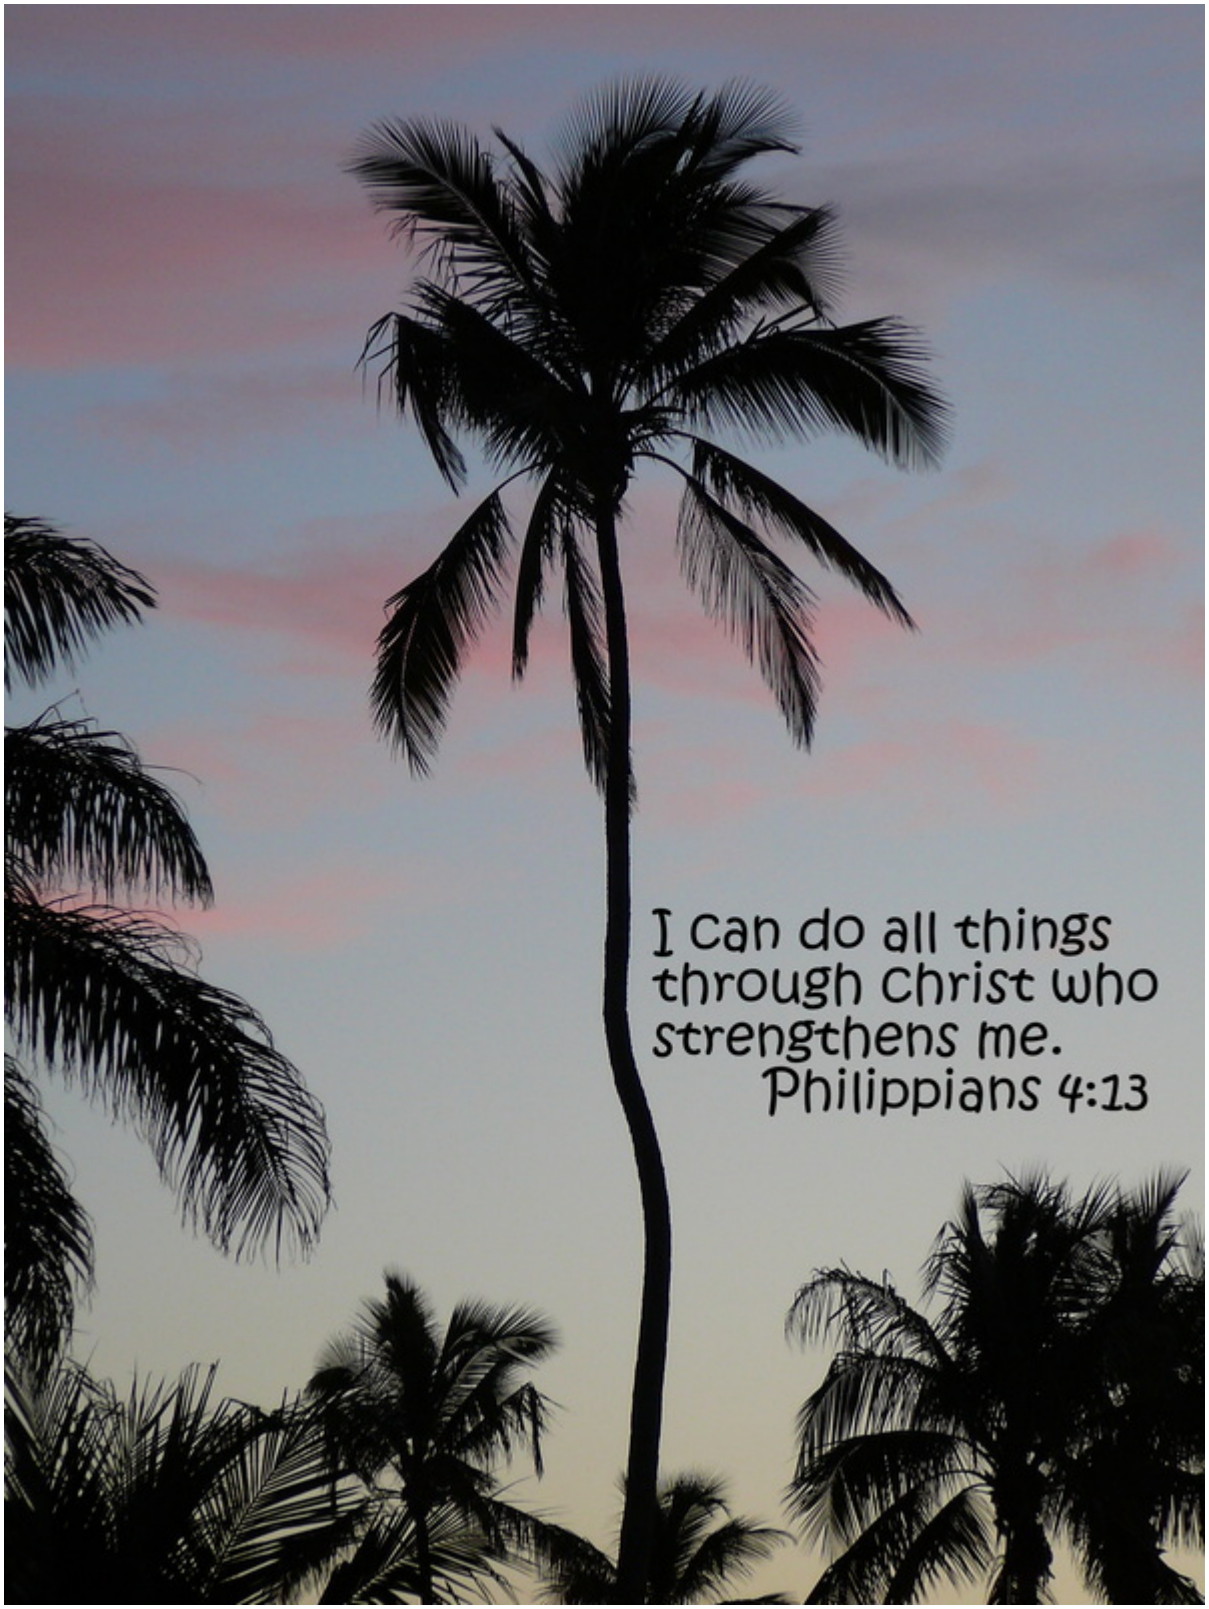

Grateful we dodged another one here in Southeast Florida.

What are you thankful for today?

Until next Thursday´s post…when we'll see a brighter day… si Dios quiere.

"Every storm runs out of rain."

"A hero is an ordinary individual who finds the strength to persevere and endure in spite of overwhelming obstacles."
-C. Reeve

I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me.
Philippians 4:13

Share this:

- Share on Facebook (Opens in new window) Facebook
- Share on X (Opens in new window) X
- Share on Pinterest (Opens in new window) Pinterest
- Print (Opens in new window) Print