

Today, I'm feeling especially grateful for the quiet warriors in our lives. The ones who wake up each day and choose to keep going, even when the road is uphill and the weight they carry is heavy. You may not always see their battles, but let me tell you, their courage is real, and their strength is extraordinary.

I want to take a moment to recognize someone very close to my heart — my nephew Rick — who continues to show us what perseverance, growth, and heart look like. We see you, papa, and we're so proud of how far you've come.

To anyone out there walking through tough stuff and still choosing to show up: your journey matters, and your resilience doesn't go unnoticed. This one's for you too.

Grateful for the reminders of strength, hope, and the power of simply not giving up. So hard to do. Thank you for being an inspiration. ☐

What are you thankful for today?

Until next Thursday's post...si Dios quiere.

"The strongest people are not those who show strength in front of us but those who win battles we know nothing about."

-Unknown

#702

Share this:

- Share on Facebook \(Opens in new window\) Facebook

- Share on X \(Opens in new window\) X
- Share on Pinterest \(Opens in new window\) Pinterest
- Print \(Opens in new window\) Print