

Always grateful when I run into images like the one I'm sharing today. It feels like un cocotazo from God, reminding me of something I already know but clearly need to hear again.

This nudge from God brings to mind the Serenity Prayer:

"God, grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change,
the courage to change the things I can,
and the wisdom to know the difference."

For me, that wisdom doesn't always come easy. There's a lot that's beyond my control, so sometimes it's a grin-and-bear-it process. My personal favorite struggle is timing. I would just like to formally say that my timing and God's timing don't always run on the same calendar. Hence the struggle.

Today, however, I'm grateful for a God who reminds me to focus and work on what I can, and release what isn't mine. I can almost hear Him saying, Ay, Connie... dale, déjame eso a Mí." And yes, when it's serious, He speaks to me in Spanish.

How do you relate to this image? And what are you thankful for today?

Until next Thursday's post...si Dios quiere.

"You can't change the direction of the wind, but you can adjust your sails."

-Max Lucado

"Relying on God has to begin all over again every day as if nothing had yet been done."

-C.S. Lewis

#735

Share this:

- Share on Facebook \(Opens in new window\) Facebook
- Share on X \(Opens in new window\) X
- Share on Pinterest \(Opens in new window\) Pinterest
- Print \(Opens in new window\) Print