

People sometimes ask me how I come up with a Thankful Thursday post week after week.

Maybe it's because there is always something to be grateful for.

Not because life is perfect or because everything goes the way we planned. But because even in the middle of the challenges, there's usually something worth noticing and appreciating.

I've learned that gratitude isn't about having everything we want. It's about recognizing the blessings we already have while still working toward what matters most.

So today, I'm turning the question over to you:

How would you finish this sentence?

"Today would be even better if _____."

For me, it might be a little more time with the people I love. Although I'm reminded of how thankful I am for the time I already get to share with them.

What are you thankful for today?

Until next Thursday's post...si Dios quiere.

"If the only prayer you ever say in your entire life is thank you, it will be enough."

-Meister Eckhart

"What separates privilege from entitlement is gratitude."

-Brené Brown

#751

Share this:

- Share on Facebook \(Opens in new window\) Facebook
- Share on X \(Opens in new window\) X
- Share on Pinterest \(Opens in new window\) Pinterest
- Print \(Opens in new window\) Print